

WARNING!!

MUST HAVE

= PAST TENSE FOR GUESSES ONLY

HAD TO

= PAST TENSE OF MUST
(necessary, need to)

Had to vs. Must Have

Fill in with: had to (= needed to) or
must have + past participle (= strong guess)

Example: You see a policeman writing a ticket for a parked car.
The money in the meter _____ (run out).

There was a burglar alarm at 3 A.M. and the police _____ (drive) to the other side of town.

1. Three ambulances are trying to get through traffic on the freeway.
There _____ (be) an accident.
2. The streets and sidewalks are dry this morning. It _____
(not, rain) last night.
3. One of our classmates was absent from class because he _____ (pick up) a friend from the airport.
4. His car had a big dent on the side. Someone _____ (hit)
it. After the accident, he _____ (call) his insurance agent.
5. The students signed up for the TOEFL[®] test late so they _____
(pay) a late fee.
6. My sister was supposed to take the 5:30 train from Portland to Seattle. But when the train arrived, she wasn't on it. She _____ (take) a later train. I _____ (come back) later to pick her up.