

The Pumpkin Festival In New Hampshire

Using the simple past. Change the following sentences to the simple past

1. People in a small town of New Hampshire participate in a contest.

2. They carve pumpkins into different figures.

3. Some pumpkins have the faces of famous people.

4. Of course, some have the typical Halloween characters.

5. People come from many places around New England to the festival.

6. Every year more people want to see the exhibits.

7. Everyone seems to enjoy the festival.

8. As a result, the festival keeps getting bigger and bigger.

9. In the festival, there are more pumpkins than residents in the town.

10. Do you want to go to the pumpkin festival?

Myra M. Medina
Miami Dade College